CREATIVITY

MEANINGLESS SLOGAN OR MEANINGFUL PHRASE?

Consider first WORLD'S 30 years of experience in producing up-to-the minute radio . . . proven rating and revenue-wise, a sound investment for subscribers.

As for creativity, spontaneity plus a thorough knowledge of radio's needs is required to be productive . . . and a 30 year record attests to productiveness.

The proof is in the using . . . "sound creativity" as represented by the distinctive WORLD features above.

Foreword

STATISTICS are the accepted footprints of an industry's progress and growth. Nineteen fifty-eight in the broadcasting industry, both American and world-wide, was essentially a year of change. The record of those changes, major as well as minor, and their effect upon the industry, will be found chronicled on the pages of this, the 22nd Edition of the Radio Annual Television Year Book.

LONG acknowledged the Recognized Standard Reference Book for the industry, its pages further reflect evidence of continued advancements and contributions in the great medium of broadcasting for the spreading of vital information and entertainment.

IT hardly need be added that the 22nd edition again represents the efforts of countless collaborators, official and unofficial. To these loyal friends of the Radio Television Daily and the industry, once again, our deep and grateful appreciation.

MEET THE BRITISH PEOPLE IN...

Topic

Joan and Julius Evans visit the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London and meet several RADA students.

A new series, a new look at Britain and the British today . . . through the eyes of Joan and Julius Evans, an American couple abroad.

You will meet an attractive lady chemist with definite views on marriage and careers . . . a 20th Century "Mr. Chips" . . . an out-of-fiction London cabbie . . a dedicated atomic physicist . . . a pretty young theater hopeful . . . a Rhodes Scholar from North Carolina . . . and many others.

Among the places you will visit are Bohemian Soho, busy London Airport (where jets came of age), Ulster (which sent America 14 Presidents), Harwell (crucible of nuclear research) and rebuilt Coventry, Britain's Detroit.

"TOPIC" is no quaint tourist trip . . . but rather, a frank and friendly visit with an energetic and dynamic people, and their country . . . it's exciting, stimulating TV, a must for your best public service time!

Any seeming discrepancy in the relation of grants and deletions during the year to total authorizations at the close of the year is due to reinstatement of some deleted authorizations and other considerations impossible to detail in this general table. Figures shown are for close of each fiscal year.

Radio Receivers—World-Wide Distribution

At the end of 1958 there were about 153,500,000 radio sets and an additional 32,000,000 wired speakers in the world, exclusive of the U. S., its territories, and Canada. The increase in sets amounted to a little over 10,000,000 or 7 per cent of the total at the beginning of the year; there was an increase of 3,000,000 or 10 per cent in the number of wired speakers. Of the 10,000,000 new radio sets, 3,500,000 were in Western Europe; 2,500,000 in the Far East; slightly more than 2,000,000 in Eastern Europe; and about 1,500,000 in the Near Eastern, South Asian and African area. Practically all of the expansion in wired speakers was in the Communist Bloc countries, with the Soviet Union adding 2,000,000 speakers and Communist China doubling its total from 500,000 to almost 1,000,000.

The data in this report are based on figures available as of the end of 1958 on the number of radio sets and wired speakers in countries throughout the world, excluding the U.S., its territories, and Canada. The accuracy of the material varies with the reliability of the statistics utilized by the sources. In some instances official statistics based upon licensed sets and supplemented by estimates as to the number of unlicensed sets were relied upon. In countries where there are no licensing systems, sources have had to make informed guesses or estimates based on import and production statistics. In several cases previously published figures have been reduced on the basis of data furnished by purportedly more reliable sources. At best, radio set statistics are approximate and should be treated with caution, particularly when they refer to newly-developing countries.

BROADCAST EDITORIAL REPORTS

Mature non-partisan, factual, and wholly supported by radio and television stations — Broadcast Editorial Reports utilizes the thinking and background of fifteen nationally and internationally known journalists.

A day-to-day editorial service designed as background material for newscasters and commentators — or — as editorials for immediate use, precisely as received in scripts of one to three-and-one-half minutes in length.

A News Department adjunct in building greater station stature and community service.

Fresh "tops" to lead or running stories — usable as special features or as "wind-up" items.

U. S. OFFERS MORE RADIO AND TV
. . . Than All Other Countries Combined

JOHN C. DOERFER
Chairman,
Federal Communications Commission

AT THE close of its 24th year, the end of 1958, the Federal Communications Commission had more than 2.1 million radio authorizations on its books; the largest figure in the nation's history. Of these authorizations, 1.5 million were commercial radio operator permits of different grades.

For the first time broadcast station authorizations collectively passed the 9,000 mark, and of this number 874 were TV stations; 791 FM, and 3,353 AM; auxiliaries, etc., made up the remainder.

Of 665 commerciai TV stations authorized, 556 held operating permits. In addition, 92 of 156 authorized TV translator stations were on the air.

Proposals for 'booster' and 'repeater' stations to further extend TV service to isolated places were under consideration.

Over 90 per cent of the population is within range of at least 1 present TV station and 75 per cent are within range of 2 or more stations. Over 83 per cent of all homes have 1 or more TV receivers and over 46 million sets are in use. Also, the U. S. is said to be the only nation receiving regular TV color programs.

The possibility of moving all or a major portion of TV broadcasting to the UHF portion of the spectrum continued to receive study; a TV industry group was cooperating in obtaining comparative UHF and VHF technical data; and, meanwhile, present disparity between UHF and VHF operation was relieved to some extent by deintermixture in various localities and other interim actions.

The Commission held that its regulatory jurisdiction does not extend to community antenna TV (CATV) systems, since they do not transmit over the air, but is studying the effect of satellite, translator, booster, and CATV operations on the growth of regular TV service.

Of 53 authorized educational TV stations, 32 held operating permits. The number of TV channels reserved for education grew to 257, or 15 more than first allocated in 1952. Though some educational reservations have been removed or changed, the Commission has denied requests for commercialization where educators have shown an active intent to use them.

For the second consecutive year, commercial FM stations gained in number. Of 634 authorized stations, 548 were on the air. Pending applications increased from 24 to 57. Increasing competition was reflected in the fact that 23 of the latter were in hearing. Renewed interest in FM is due primarily to the ability of commercial stations to augment their income through subsidiary programs and Commission consideration of the possibility of permitting additional supplemental services through multiplex operation.

AM authorizations rose to 3,353 of which 3,253 had operating permits. The Commission proposed to eliminate the exclusive nighttime use of 12 clear channels by stations in 7 large cities to permit additional stations in 12 western cities to take care of less served areas.

Two ways to get them up to their ears in commercials

Some commercials build up resistance . . . others build up sales. The differences—all the way from failure to middling success to real success—show the creative selling ability of your advertising agency.

"Imagin'

me goin' ta collidge!" WJAR-TV made nationwide headlines recently when it initiated a live TV course on the history and philosophy of communism. Full academic credit was given by Providence College and enthusiastic letters poured in. Daring, imaginative, unorthodox local programming like this is the biggest single reason why WJAR-TV consistently walks off with the lion's share of the audience in the PROVIDENCE MARKET.

THE "DON'T DO IT YOURSELF" FAD

...Network Radio is Making It Popular

By EDWARD J. DeGRAY

ABC Vice President in Charge, Radio Network

"DO IT YOURSELF" is a phrase well-established with Americans of the current generation. To countless millions, it means building game rooms; engaging in hundreds of projects about the house; making repairs on the family automobile and handling scores of other tasks which might otherwise prove costly.

But occasionally, the "Do It Yourself" man or woman finds himself involved in a situation where only a craftsman can resolve the problem. In short, there are times when people can't do it themselves.

The "do it yourself" age in radio began a decade ago and with it, hundreds of stations throughout the country began programming records and news, plus other local features. In time, many of these stations discovered however that there were situations where local resources were not always adequate to handle the problem at hand. The result was that many stations have learned that network radio was a must for balanced programming.

In its role as a craftsman, ABC Radio has therefore geared its concept to the modern trend: serving as the source for programming which the stations can't do themselves. In aiding stations to obtain balanced programming, its concept is based on providing listeners with the type of programs they want.

One key area is entertainment featuring the nationally-known personality. Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club" and the Peter Lind Hayes-Mary Healy show fit this need of listeners, and in addition to entertaining, these performers also inform. For the advertiser, they offer a means of reaching large numbers of families simultaneously.

In the field of information, news and commentary are in constant demand. While a local station can utilize wire service reports for some news broadcasts, it cannot engage a world-wide staff to cover first-hand the important events taking place at all times and places. ABC Radio has met this demand through expansion of its staff and facilities and by adding both newscasts and commentary.

For specials, programs and bulletins, ABC Radio also installed a news alert system to warn its affiliates. As a result, ABC Radio is able to provide stations complete coverage of fast-breaking stories.

In addition to these two examples of giving stations material they can't provide themselves, ABC Radio also presents public affairs shows, stereophonic broadcasts and other notable programs, programs for the listener and the station.

A medium possessing unlimited flexibility, network radio is able to adapt itself to any situation. ABC Radio for one believes this is its most important strength and as new challenges arise, our network will be ready to meet them. This flexibility has kept the medium going at a time when other forces threatened and will I am sure enable it to again move forward to achieve new successes in the future.

Washington throwing dollar across Rappahannock - J. Dunne '59

Nobody could ever make a dollar go farther

(till ABC Radio thought up its 4-Most Plan)

We cannot tell a lie. ABC's 4-Most marketing concept has no equal at getting mileage out of your advertising dollar — or adding momentum to your merchandising program. Its four feature benefits aim to excite not only consumers, but the sponsor's management, salesmen, distributors, dealers, and local broadcasting outlets.

1. ABC goes all out to develop dealer-distributor advertising tie-ins on local ABC affiliates with your network sponsorship.

2. ABC creates an effective and colorful sales promotion kit for use by your district sales representatives.

3. ABC helps you create and stage closed-circuit nation-wide sales promotions.

4. ABC's cooperative roster of personalities is happy to pitch in on your merchandising efforts—with personal tapes cut especially for you!

The 4-Most Plan is flexible — is made to fit your specific marketing needs.
Isn't this a chance you can't throw away?

THE CHALLENGE OF NETWORK RADIO, '59 . . . Some Real Answers Are Emerging

By ARTHUR HULL HAYES

President, Radio Division of the Columbia Broadcasting System

IS there such a thing as modern network radio? Some network radio today sounds pretty much like the good independent stations sounded—ten years ago. Another "modern" approach has been to switch from programs to excerpts of programs and running them all together. These are just two of the answers by network radio to the advent of television. I think they fail to come to grips with the real problem. These answers assume that the way to meet our medium's economic necessities is to cut down on the quality of the product: programs.

In January 1959, the CBS Radio Network and its affiliated stations began operating under a new structure, our Program Consolidation Plan. PCP has consolidated and regrouped what was already network radio's top-ranking schedule into even stronger, more attractive program sequences . . . has given affiliates the opportunity for more ambitious local program ventures . . . and has made possible improved clearances, and a more truly national network service for advertisers.

In short, our objective is what it must be, if network radio is to continue to be an enduring and exciting medium: a better product; bigger audiences.

PCP has been in operation for a short time. But reactions from stations and advertisers give clear testimony to the soundness and promise inherent in the plan. Immediately after PCP was announced, this network experienced the greatest sales spurt in recent network radio history. Over $4 million in new and expanded business was contracted for by leading advertisers. And the affiliated stations, with very few exceptions, have been excited by the new possibilities, in audiences and in revenues, opened up by the plan.

In addition to this local CBS News sales opportunity, our stations now have longer blocks of contigous time in which to develop local personalities (how far would even an Arthur Godfrey have gone with a 15-minute format?), and in which to present top local and regional events in the evenings and on weekends.

As for the network schedule itself, almost without exception the programs responsible for our 10-year audience leadership are all continuing. And the vital CBS special events and public affairs programs are a key factor of current and future operations.

So the new CBS Radio Network is structured like this. By strengthening the stations of the network, we strengthen the network. By consolidating the network schedule, we make it possible to maintain and extend the most widely acclaimed programming in the business. By devising a new financial structure, we enable both network and stations to function more profitably. And by virtue of all of the above, we make it possible for advertisers on the CBS Radio Network to realize the vast new potentials of modern network radio.

PC

CBS Radio's Program Consolidation Plan is the most significant forward step in network radio in years. Logically, it was developed first on this network. Where leadership is a constant. Where advertisers reach the largest audiences when they talk.[1] Where listeners find most of the programs they most want to hear.[2] Where critics favor more programs than on the other three networks combined.[3] Bank on PCP to produce an even greater margin of leadership—and even more effective advertising for you—on the

CBS RADIO NETWORK

1 42 per cent larger audiences per commercial minute than on the next network; Nielsen Radio Index; September 1957—December 1958.

2 226 quarter-hour wins out of a possible 237 in all the quarter-hours in which CBS Radio programs compete with those of at least one other network in ten or more of the top 26 markets; Network Radio Pulse; 1958 monthly average.

THE PRESENT STATE OF LOCAL RADIO

...It's Enjoying Robust Health

By SIDNEY J. WOLF

President, Keystone Broadcasting System, Inc.

FOR the second year in succession the Keystone Broadcasting System has enjoyed the most successful year in its eighteen year history. And the reason for our continuing growth is self-evident. The dramatic recovery of radio in 1957 was something much deeper and enduring than a passing phase or a superficial trend. The two intervening years have amply demonstrated the basic strength and practical flexibility of our medium in the field of mass communications. Radio is here to stay as a powerful and enduring influence on the American way of life, with nearly one hundred forty seven million sets currently in use.

If further proof of radio's robust health is needed, one has only to remark last year's all time high local billings reported by radio stations throughout the country. Radio on the local level at the point of sale has consistently been a dominating selling weapon in our small town and rural markets, where it has become almost traditional for local retailers and wholesalers to rely on the Broadcast impact of the local stations to move goods and merchandise within those stations' coverage areas. This is one of the main reasons why an efficient and resourceful station operator who programs and caters to the local tastes invariably prospers, even in comparatively small communities. Another important factor is that the average local community is principally interested in the affairs and prosperity of its own particular bailiwick, and outside influences being of secondary importance "St. Louis or Cleveland or Wichita Falls is fine but I haven't been there in a couple of years." Because of this natural preoccupation with its own locale, the community is predominantly loyal to the local station, keeps tuned in to it and is only remotely concerned with the happenings of larger communities beyond its own immediate periphery. Hence local news takes precedence over a continual stream of national intelligence. The local business man is very much aware of these conditions and depends chiefly upon the local radio outlets to sell his goods. He also knows that the signals of outside radio stations have much less influence upon the actual listening habits of his community than is generally proclaimed.

In essence, the Keystone Broadcasting System with 1061 affiliates, and comprising an audience of nearly one hundred million listeners, constitutes itself as local radio on a network basis. It serves the national advertisers and advertising agencies in offering them the same effective and profitable broadcast promotion at low economical cost, as that enjoyed by local advertisers on the local level at the point of sale. It is indeed gratifying to note that in 1958 over 80 national advertisers used the Keystone facilities to reach the local consumer with strong local level impact, an impact that local advertisers have always found most rewarding in the matter of sales returns. It is further most heartening to know that a great many national advertisers have regularly bought time on Keystone over the years and are now strong advocates of the power of local radio.

THE RADIO NETWORKING PATTERN, '59-69 . . . Will Crystalize During This Year

By BLAIR A. WALLISER

Executive Vice President
Mutual Broadcasting System

THE pattern of radio network broadcasting for the next ten years will be set in 1959.

After two years of slow and sometimes painful re-appraisal, the major broadcasters have at last recognized that old-time radio, dedicated primarily to entertainment, is dead and cannot be revived.

But in place of mourning for the kind of programming that characterized radio's adolescence, the alert contemporary broadcaster rejoices in the new mature role of radio. Sales of sets are up and audiences are up, for Americans have recognized that radio serves its listeners in a manner unequalled by any other medium in the two areas of service and companionship.

In June of 1957, Mutual foresaw this trend and with characteristic realism and vigor jettisoned its old entertainment policy. In place of programming comedy, variety, soap opera and quiz programs, Mutual became a network of music for companionship and news, sports, special events and personalities. For service, Mutual went farther. The historic chain policy of setting a pattern of network conformity for every local station was dropped. We at MBS capitalized on the independence and community service status of our affiliates. Instead of superimposing a network programming schedule on the broadcast day of our affiliates, Mutual substituted a philosophy of complementary and augmentative service.

The function of the network, as Mutual sees it, is to provide the local station with the services it cannot get for itself—national and international news, sports, special events and name personalities.

We call this policy Dynamic Compatibility. It is dynamic because it creatively and constructively supplements the programming of the local station with an outside line to the entire world. It is compatible because we at Mutual have long since recognized that a few experts sitting behind desks in New York, no matter how capable, cannot master-mind the programming tastes of 453 markets ranging from small prairie towns to huge metropolitan areas.

The modern radio network serves its affiliates best by supplying them with the national and international facilities which will best aid them in becoming top community service stations in their areas. Mutual believes in providing this service even to the point of subordinating network identification to assure listening confidence and loyalty for the local station.

The transistor set has brought about an enormous increase in out-of-home listeners. The automobile radio is no longer a luxury but virtually standard equipment. Where 1958 saw sales in TV sets fall, sales of radio sets continued their steady long-term rise. Americans are conditioned to radio listening wherever they go—whatever they do.

USEFULNESS IS KEY TO WEB RADIO

. . . An Essential Of Successful Operation

By MATTHEW J. CULLIGAN

Executive Vice President
in charge of the NBC Radio Network

THERE is every reason for confidence in the improvement of network radio's economy in 1959, provided there is continued emphasis on its fundamental characteristic in all phases of its operation. That characteristic is usefulness. The NBC Radio Network recognized this basic value 26 months ago and began to reshape its structure accordingly. So successful were its efforts that NBC Radio enters the new year as leader of the industry.

While we view 1959 as a year of stiff competition for sales dollars, from television and the print media as well as other radio networks, we feel that our sound programming concepts and our aggressive selling and merchandising policies will enable NBC Radio to continue its ascent.

In building the new image of NBC Radio, our first concern was to make it more useful to its millions of listeners. As the keystone of its structure, therefore, we initiated the policy of "NBC News-on-the-Hour" broadcasts, utilizing the facilities of broadcasting's greatest news-gathering agency. Then, because news is no respecter of clocks and the big story may break at any moment, we added the "Hot Line" service to bring our listeners news reports within seconds after developments occur.

Events of 1958—the Middle East crisis, satellite launchings, the New York newspaper strike—proved the importance of strong news coverage to network radio's essential quality of service. This outstanding coverage, which only network radio can provide, will become even more vital next year and in succeeding years as scientific advancements continue to speed civilization into a "Buck Rogers age."

Our next objective after making NBC Radio more useful was to make it more flexible. The pre-television image of radio had been shattered overnight. But gradually there came an awareness that the public had not abandoned radio when it made television its No. 1 entertainment medium. From 1949 to the present, 115 million radio sets were bought. Because the smaller sets manufactured were so inexpensive, families became multiple set owners. Moreover, the car radio, the portable and the transistor gave listeners mobility. It was found that although radio's huge nighttime audience had been cut sharply by television, radio's daytime and out-of-home audiences were growing phenomenally.

NBC Radio's "Monitor" is a prime example of the flexible programming structure devised to meet the nation's new listening habits. It proved so popular that it was extended to Friday night and, last Fall, to major holidays. Our "Star Dust" policy of presenting top stars in five-minute vignettes also has permitted the necessary flexibility in programming and at the same time has returned headline entertainers to radio. Present plans call for further expansion of "Star Dust" next year.

Proving the effectiveness of these innovations, the NBC Radio Network now has 48 per cent of all network radio sponsored air-time.

THE NBC RADIO NETWORK

keeps America on top of the latest happenings the whole world over with fast, accurate, dramatic news, flashed by 400 NBC News correspondents stationed in 70 nations.

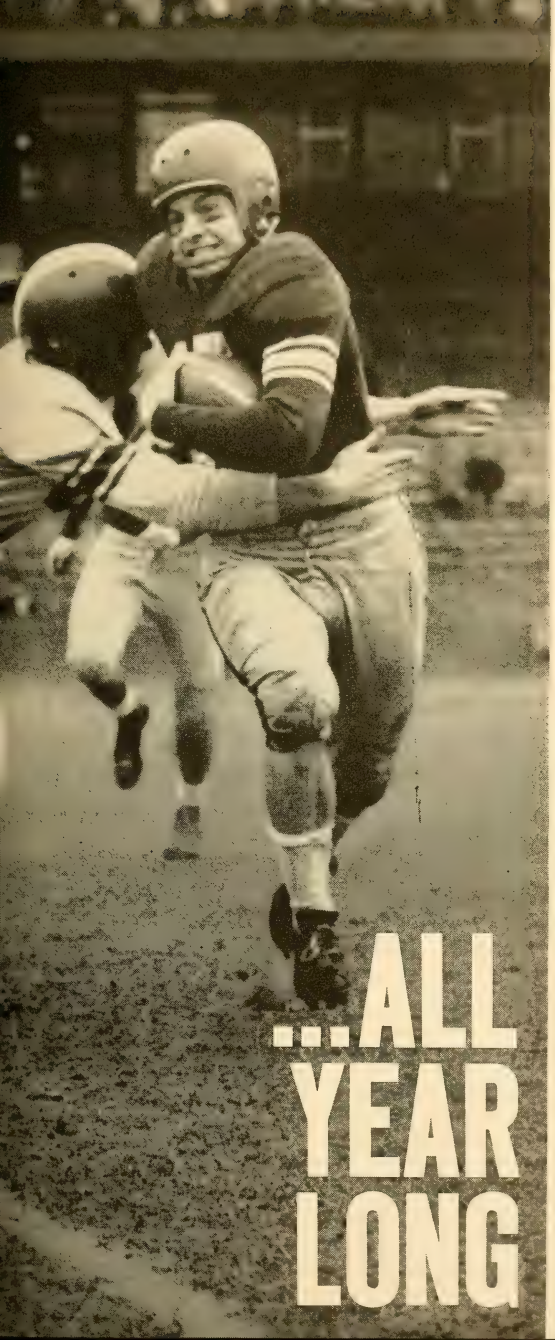
▪ Every hour, throughout the day and evening, NBC Radio's NEWS OF THE HOUR presents a complete news summary, featuring on-the-spot reports.

▪ At all times, NBC's HOT LINE is on the alert, standing by to switch listeners right to the scene of big news, wherever it happens, whenever it happens.

▪ NBC News is constantly at work on special background reports that give full perspective on the headline of the moment.

This is the kind of news-coverage that the American public relies upon network radio to bring them—the kind that only a network can bring them. This is the kind of coverage they know they will always find on an NBC Radio station.

For complete on-the-spot coverage, all year long, around the world, America turns to the stations of the NBC Radio Network.



THE NBC RADIO NETWORK

is on the spot—whatever the season, whatever the sport—bringing America one exciting first-hand report after another. Baseball and boxing, tennis and track, horse-racing, sailboat-racing, golf—even bocchi—they're all part of the jampacked NBC schedule. Each season there are specials like: the Rose Bowl Game, the World Series, the U. S. Open Golf Tournament, Forest Hills' Tennis Championships, in fact, just about every major event of the year. Week-end games and special features on MONITOR, interviews, sports roundups, and the Friday night fights complete the schedule.

For sports-loving America, here's week-in, week-out on-the-spot reporting that only a network could provide.

For complete on-the-spot coverage, all year long, around the world, America turns to the stations of the NBC Radio Network.

honored throughout the nation

Being awarded four 1958 George Washington Honor Medals by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge indicates the outstanding position Storer stations have attained through public service in their communities, even in America's greatest markets.

We are happy to acknowledge the fact that the Freedoms Foundation has recognized the achievements of WIBG in Philadelphia, WJW-TV and Radio in Cleveland, WJBK in Detroit and, at the same time, Storer Broadcasting Company's national advertising for the fourth consecutive year.

. . . seeking the hidden ingredient

We have never been content to provide buyers with only the obvious facts and figures about our stations and the markets in which they operate. From the day H-R was started by a group of Working Partners, we have sought for the "hidden ingredient" that distinguishes each station and makes it a more logical selection for important schedules. The value of this persistent research and continuing market study takes on added significance at H-R, because all of the Working Partners and the men on our staff, have the experience and ability to interpret these findings into extra service for time buyers and into extra sales for our stations.

EXPERIENCE

Behind the brow of the pilot, knowledge won through years of experience . . . skill born of doing.

In our business, too, 13 years experience have given us a background that makes the time buyer's job easier . . . lessens the chance of costly errors.

Such experience must be earned. And there's no substitute for it.

THE MAKERS OF TELEVISION SERIES ... Never Have They Been More Vital

By FREDERIC W. ZIV

President, Frederic W. Ziv Co.

THE most important single ingredient in the production of a sucessful TV series is people. The creativity and skill of those contributing to the film making process are the most vital resource of any TV producing organization.

Never have they been more vital than they will be in television's second decade. Now that television has achieved maturity as a medium with national saturation, we can no longer rely on the momentum of a new and growing communications force to carry us forward. The success of each new program will be accomplished on the basis of its merits, on the strength and uniqueness of its concept and the know-how and imagination with which it is produced.

In the coming year, we at Ziv will expand our corps of creative people. We have sought out the most talented men in all entertainment media. We have offered them the opportunity to conceive and develop their own program ideas. We have always sought to attract top creative people; we will now put even more emphasis on this effort. Our goal is to win and maintain the interest of the most brilliant men in the field, men who have created new series for us in 1958 such as Frank Pittman, Andy White, Ivan Tors, Mort Friedkin and David Fine. Among those joining this outstanding group of Ziv producers this year are Doug Heyes, Seton I. Miller and Steve Fisher.

We will add more new names to this roster during the months ahead —names that are recognized as being the best in their field.

Each year, we at Ziv have increased our production facilities and the number of new programs in production. During 1958, we had nine new series before the camera. For 1959, the number will be even greater.

The significance of this growth is not merely quantitative. It bespeaks high advertiser interest in, and audience enthusiasm for, quality programming. Further, it signifies the arrival of an era in which our talent resources are strengthened to the point where we can move forward successfully on many new projects. Developing a new program is an expensive, time-consuming process. It takes months, and often years, to develop and test a program concept.

We need the right men, and the right climate—a climate which encourages creativity by welcoming new ideas and providing ample time and facilities for working them out. To have the men but not the climate is insufficient. There must be both.

Ziv will continue this search for talent for all phases of operation. We seek men of outstanding merit among actors, producers, directors and writers. This, we are convinced, is the key to the presentation of powerful and exciting new programs.

THE ROLE OF MUSIC TRANSCRIPTIONS . . . Keeps Growing For Radio Stations

By JOHN D. LANGLOIS

President, Lang-Worth Feature Programs, Inc.

IN recent weeks Lang-Worth has published as a service to its subscriber stations the second edition of a booklet called "Profitunes". The title naturally supports our contention that jingles such as L-W's "Radio Hucksters" service are profit-making tunes for the modern radio station. But as a handbook on the sales, production and promotion-merchandising techniques we have found most effective, it points out the many opportunities offered the station by a concept we might call "Radio Add-vertising".

These are the added ingredients of imagination and showmanship, of smartly competitive selling, of the creation of opportunities that so often distinguish the leader from the pack. It is radio's good fortune, with its human personality, to be more exploitable and merchandiseable than most other media, and we have found this true in the use of our own product "Radio Hucksters" jingles. What are some of the aspects of this local "Radio Add-vertising"? First, helping the sponsor merchandise his advertising. The radio station can take the driver's seat by suggesting coordination of advertising around the air theme, such as the punch line of a jingle. Its jingle service can serve as the base of planned Special Promotions for either an important local sponsor or group of stores allied by location and kindred interest in attracting customers.

In this way a jingle campaign could aim to encourage customers to deal at several stores and businesses in one area. To shop, for instance, at a particular men's wear store; attend a particular motion picture theater a block or so away; and, finally, to select a late supper to carry home from a delicatessen right next to the theater. In this way, then, stores and businesses in one part of town will realize they have a potential stake in each other from this promotion standpoint.

The station, additionally, can become active in not only the local sponsors' copy problems (most do not have skilled admen or agencies) but in his week-to-week sales problems and opportunities.

Local advertising agencies, too, would have a ready-made production arm in a local station which maintains an extensive library of jingle transcriptions. A complete sound or musical effect, for instance, could be at the disposal of the agency to do a particular job for his client.

The station can and should keep an advanced eye on the calendar by which business and industry lives. It can romance the medium and the particular commercials series to the buyers at the department store, or the salesmen of branded merchandise lines which are franchised in town.

That the overall contribution of these services to stations, sponsors and advertising agencies is a material and growing one is evident from the increasing use of the services from recent year to year.

So says "Profitunes," which is more or less our Lang-Worth "Radio Hucksters" service's voice of experience in sales, production and merchandising.

"CULTURAL EXCHANGE"—HOME-STYLE

. . . Could Hypo Public Service Programs

By DONALD H. McGANNON

President, Westinghouse
Broadcasting Company, Inc.

IN the past year, we have heard much about cultural exchange between the United States and the Soviet Union, and our broadcast entertainment has been enriched by the interchange of performing talent between East and West.

Perhaps this international exchange, undertaken for reasons of diplomacy, may serve a purpose beyond its original intention by suggesting another kind of cultural exchange —among broadcasters in the U. S. A.

In two industry-wide conferences on local public service programming, held under our company's auspices, we have been impressed by the great quantity and variety of excellent imaginative public service programming being done by radio and television stations across the country. At the same time, we have been concerned by the thought that many of these fine programs were seen and heard only within the coverage areas of the stations that originated them, though their messages had universal value and their method of presentation had general appeal.

Why don't broadcasters set up an inter-station exchange of good public service programming? The thought seems especially valid when you consider that many stations would like to schedule more informational and inspirational programming, but are limited by the amount that can be developed by their own production facilities. Given the opportunity to broadcast other stations' service efforts in return for permitting added exposure of their own programs, we think most stations would participate gladly.

The mechanical means for interchange are available, and at moderate cost. Radio stations all have equipment for handling audio tape. Television programs can be exchanged on tape or on film.

The Westinghouse Broadcasting Company has practiced this idea to some extent, making its public service programming available without cost to educational and non-commercial stations. We'd like to explore the possibility of mutual exchanges with other radio and television stations.

Such a project would have far-reaching values, in increasing our audiences' familiarity with other communities, their problems and their points of pride. The east could learn more of the historical and cultural heritage of the west; the north might achieve a richer appreciation for the folklore of the south; people in urban areas would learn more about life in smaller communities, and vice versa.

Moreover, we as broadcasters would learn much from such an exchange. If, on a regular basis, we saw and heard what other stations in other cities were doing, we would find ideas and techniques we could adapt to our own uses, and perhaps in adapting improve on them. We would find new subjects for exploration, new yardsticks to apply to our own efforts. At the same time, there is a good chance we would provide similar help to others.

Perhaps cultural exchange, like charity, can make a good beginning at home.

When Stations Change Hands —

Knowing where the buyers are solves half the problem for a seller.

Knowing where the sellers are solves half the problem for a buyer.

Those are the halves that we know.

The other half depends on telling us your situation so we can go to work for you.

"we're going great with Radio Press"

This quote is from only one of many complimentary letters received from our subscriber stations; in this case Duncan Mounsey, Executive Vice President and General Manager of WPTR, Albany.

And these stations have come to recognize the advantages of exclusive-in-the-market RADIO PRESS service:

- Complete foreign, national and Washington coverage . . . at low cost . . . all in one quality package.
- Seven-days-a-week service, with round-the-clock standby for fast breaks; top quality transmission.
- Highest professional standards, backed by full-time news bureaus and experienced correspondents around the world.
- Stability of operation and policy in the face of an uncertain period in radio.

Here's what some other RADIO PRESS subscribers say:

"We have made capital . . . not only of spot news but also of your recent interviews with Errol Flynn and Ernest Hemingway . . . the sponsors of our newscasts have commented quite favorably . . . we freely credit the excellent service you are giving us."

WWDC, Washington, D. C.

". . . your excellent 'voiced' news service has gained favorable comment among our listeners."

WGN, Chicago, Ill.

The magic word is . . . . FREE!

. . . and the magic formula is Free Prizes . . . to stimulate the imagination, and add action and excitement to your station promotions or give-away shows. Supplying prizes to radio and television stations for station promotions and give-aways, is a vital part of our business . . . a job we have been performing for the past 12 years. During that period, we have furnished the nation's top-rated stations with over $10,000,000 in top-quality, brand-name merchandise that has kept them way out in front of their competition.

You pay nothing for the prizes, simply a modest service fee. And we attend to all details including delivery of the prizes prepaid to your station or the winning contestants. May we show you how we can help keep you ahead of your competition.

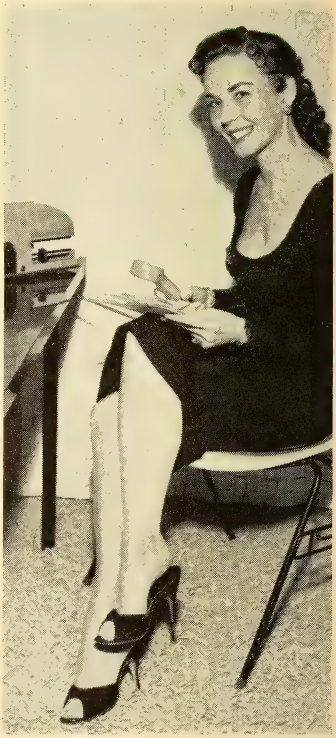
DEE-JAY Grapevine

WE SUPPLY THE GIFTS — YOU BUILD AUDIENCES!



Here you see a facsimile of the format of the Dee-Jay Grapevine, a publication begun in January, 1959, by Al Petker, the Contest Man, Beverly Hills, California.

It is dedicated to the Disc-Jockey, the "Dee-Jay," and it goes to more than 7500 of them each month. It is their paper. And you can make it your free medium in which you can exchange views, ideas and opinions — contest plans, boners, and even advertise — at no cost — for a new job or a new transmitter.

In its first month, the Dee-Jay Grapevine was so fantastically accepted that it tripled its circulation. Thus, in the "Contest Man's" office, we feel we have fulfilled a need.

We also feel that we fulfill a few other needs. We supply gifts whereby Dee-Jays build their audiences — build them for profit to themselves and their stations.

Dee-Jays might also feel a need for the young lady to our right, here. But that's something we can't fulfill. They're on their own as far as she is concerned. That's Miss Georgia Clancy, our Executive V.P. But she'll gladly correspond with you and fulfill all your needs in Gifts For Listeners.

Write her in care of Al Petker, The Contest Man, Beverly Hills, California.

WOV

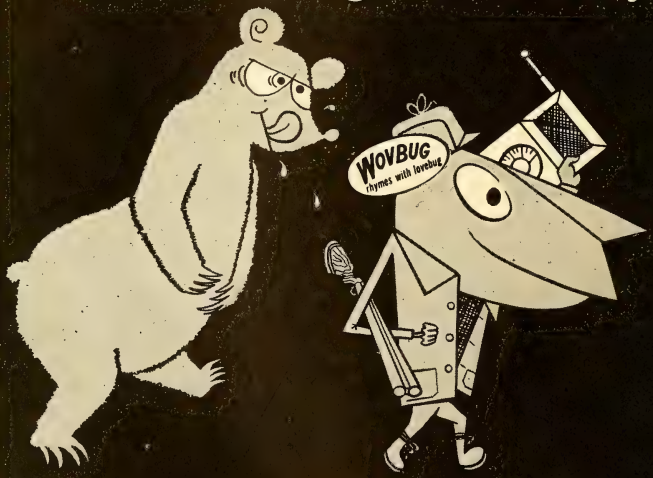
IN N. Y. C. and VICINITY

first in the Negro Community



If you're hunting for sales in the 17-county metropolitan New York area, there's an enormous potential in the great Negro Community that resides in it.

Its growth speaks volumes — over 40% since 1951 alone. Its per capita income level, too, has risen almost 40% in that time. Today this community represents approximately a million and a half persons in New York, New Jersey and the Connecticut area — 427,054 families yearning for the better things in life and, more than ever, able to buy them.

Programming 11½ hours a day to the interests of this vital community, WOV is the only radio station in New York that reaches this market in its entirety — and reaches it MORE on every survey made.

A complete factual booklet — "Maximum Sales in the Negro Market of New York" — just completed — is well worth your study. It's yours for the asking.
